

Manual test plan for Cider

Start the frontend and visit <http://localhost:3000/>

From last week's test plan, following through to this week: log back in and go to your profile page: You should see this new bar at the bottom of the page (you may need to scroll)

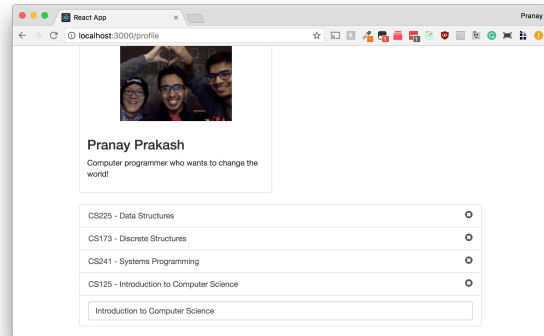

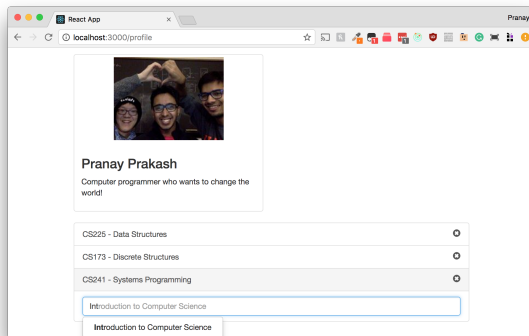

Try clicking on one of the classes listed there. It should delete the class from your profile:

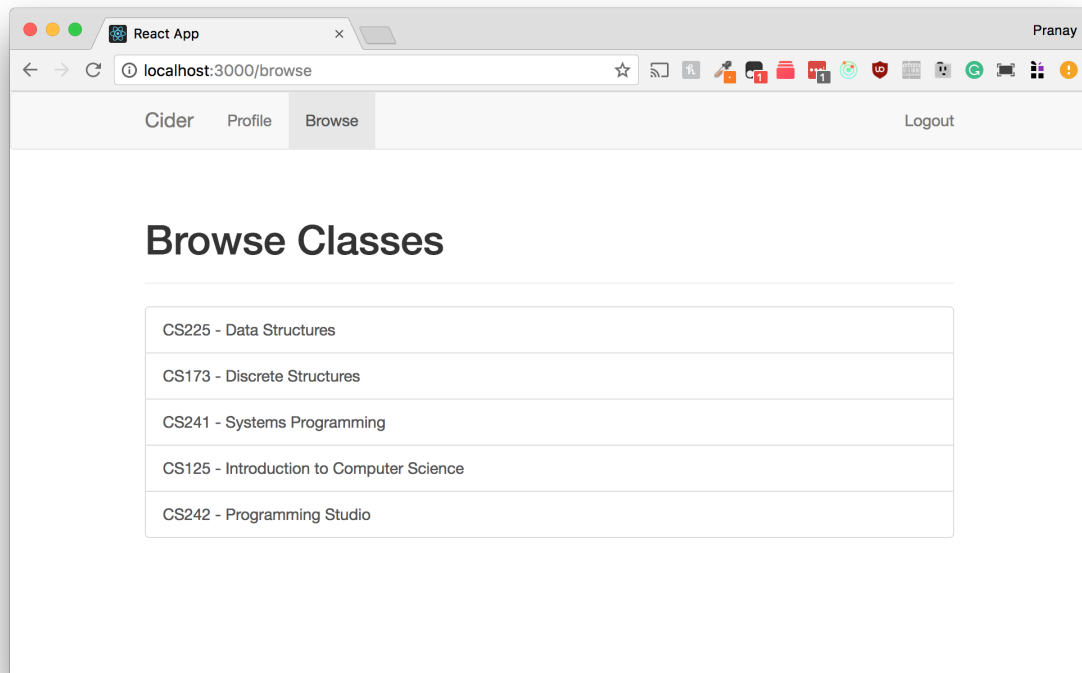

Now that we know you can remove classes, let's try adding the class back.

Start typing the name of the class you just removed into the list of classes, and we'll add it back

If all of that worked as expected, the profile page is good to go. Let's visit the new "Browse" page

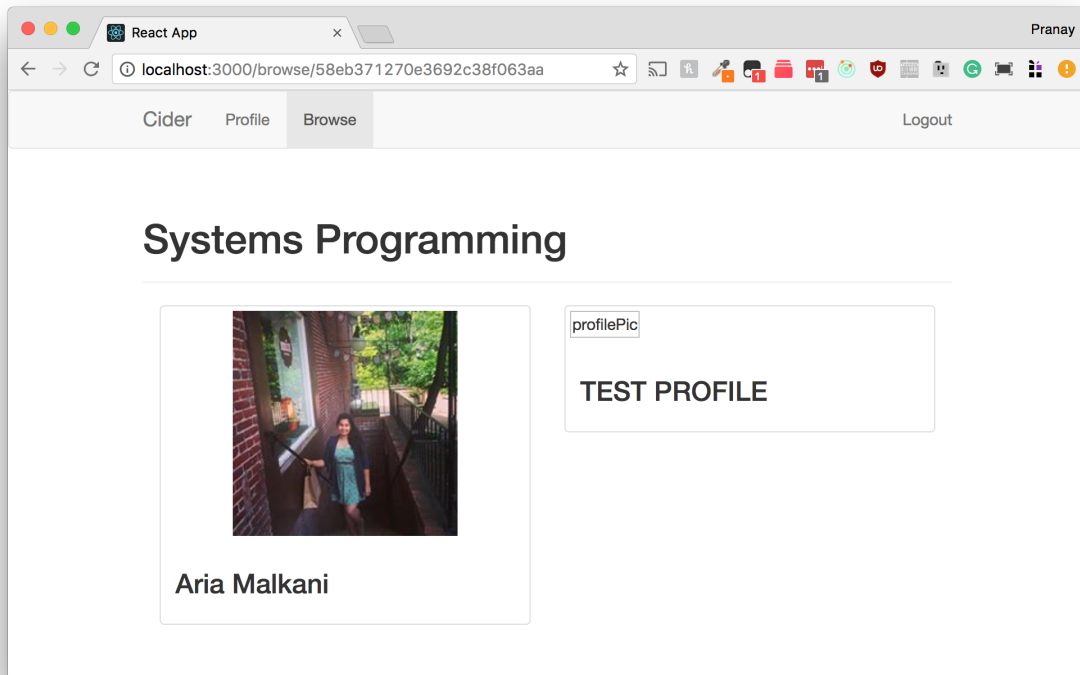

Click on it from the NavBar. You should see this:

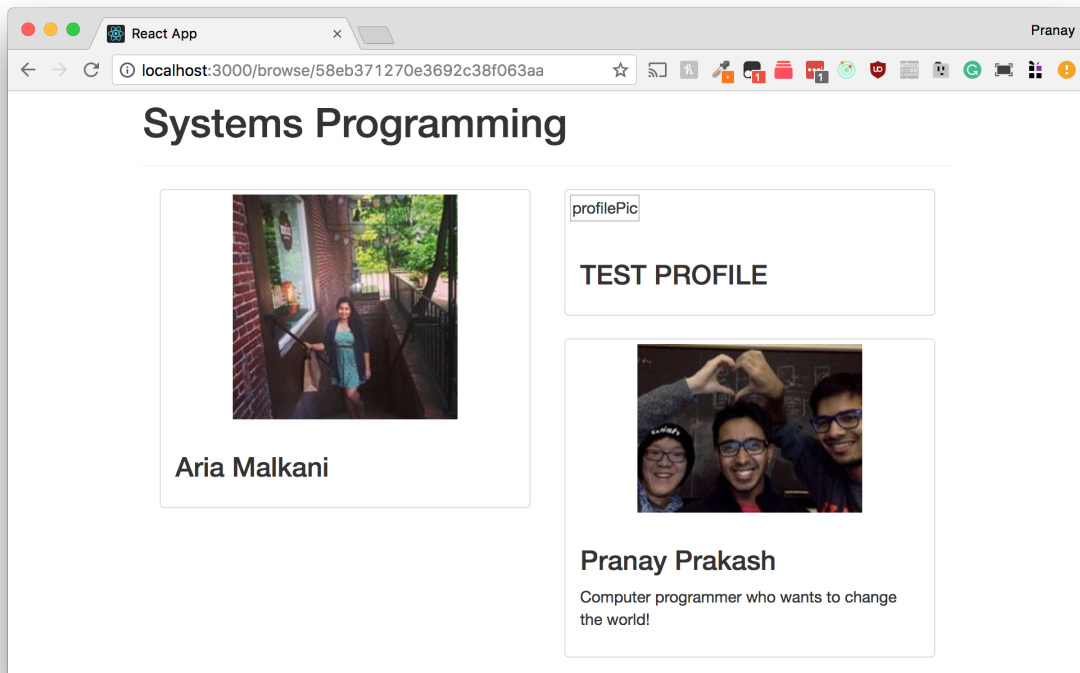

If you see all the different classes available, this page works as expected.

Now, click on one of the classes to browse profiles in that class. I'm going to click on "CS241 - Systems Programming"

You should come across a page like this

Also, notice how your own profile doesn't show up on this page since you're only browsing other people. However, try to logout and then come back to this page from the browse button in the nav bar. You should see this Notice, now, that your own profile is listed here since you aren't logged in anymore.

Repeat the last few steps to browse a bunch of different classes and ensure everything works as expected!
